

The Masked Marvels ...from Italy.

Outta control Farting Tuba plus compulsive drumming, doped with strangling guitar riffs and a really poor singing dentist playing some kind of weird rock'n'trash-blues.

And here is their Story:

in year 2001 Doctor Luke Sharp , a well respected Dentist and poor Guitar player, started a project named: "Stiletto", pure Rockabilly "avantgarde" influenced by psycho, swing and other crap .. The self-produced album, "The wrong music for the right people" was the epitome of five years of hard rockin' the road.

During a night in October 2007 beloved grandfather Aldo appeared to Luke Sharp in a dream and told him to play some different stuff,.. so Luke Sharp decided to change course , the band become a schizophrenic force who takes inspiration from a distant past: the roaring and dirty '20s .... the name changed as well ... the 'Masked Marvels were born...

13 pieces of ragtime flavored with violent and clear references to the composers of the Italian 1900 avanguardia , echoes of Root Blues played like no good musicians ever wants to hear, epic brass arrangements that even director Philip Sousa would have loved as well...

10 minutes of this stuff and you can't wait to punch yourself in the face for joy.

"Ol'Farts and young Tarts": this is the title of the first album of the band produced by the legendary and uncorruptible Billy's Bones Records label from Aprilia, Italy.

super funny lyrics, a killer guitar, suicide trombone, outta control drums and a farting tuba melted with unespected experimental and noise inserts all enhanced by a voice jumped out of a Merry Melodies cartoon.

just right from the land of spaghetti pizza and mandolino,The Masked Marvels are willing and ready to make your neighbours jump outta the windows.
